CAMPAIGN FOR ADVANCEMENT UPDATE

The Campaign for Advancement Reaches $7.4 Million Kresge Foundation Awards $200,000 Challenge Grant

In support of the Campaign for Advancement, The Kresge Foundation, an independent, private foundation created by the personal gifts of Sebastian S. Kresge, is awarding a challenge grant of $200,000 to Wesleyan College toward the renovation of Robert Jenks Taylor Hall of Science and Mathematics. Payment of the grant is conditioned upon raising by February 1, 1988, the $395,000 currently required to complete full funding.

"I am delighted with the challenge," said Dr. Robert Ackerman. "The College will meet the challenge of raising $395,000 by the deadline. This grant will assist Wesleyan in completing an important project for the progress of this institution."

"Giving to the challenge is off to a good start," reports Rose Mary McKelvey, Director of Institutional Advancement. "Over $158,000 has been pledged towards the $395,000 goal."

Last year The Kresge Foundation reviewed 915 proposals and awarded grants totalling $45 million to 151 charitable organizations in 37 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and Great Britain. Grants are made toward projects involving construction or renovation of facilities and the purchase of major capital equipment or real estate. Like Wesleyan, most grant recipients have raised initial funds toward their respective projects before requesting Foundation assistance. Including The Kresge Foundation grant, a total of $704,617 has been pledged towards the $1.1 million renovation of Taylor Hall.

"Kresge's challenge grant has come at the best possible time in our $8.8 million capital campaign," said Mrs. McKelvey. "Gifts and pledges to the campaign have already reached the $7.4 million mark and I am confident that the Kresge challenge will be met through the continued generosity of Wesleyan's alumnae and friends."

During the summer months, the Phase II renovations of Taylor Hall are being completed. The modernization of the biology, chemistry, physics, and behavioral science laboratories is underway. New equipment, chemical storage areas, and a staircase are being added. Excavating under the building has created lab space in addition to a biology office, and a small conference room. The computer center to house the new microcomputer will be ready for the students in the fall. Installation of an elevator will allow total accessibility to the three-floor structure.

To make the science and mathematics building more energy efficient, the ceilings are being lowered in some areas. Individual air conditioning units will be installed to allow the main air conditioner to be shut down during the summer months while still allowing the office complex to be cooled.

Tootsie Barfield '89 and Melanie Kittrell '89 "shoot a few baskets" on the newly refinished gymnasium floor in Porter Gym. Refinishing the gym floor was just one of the summer renovation projects made possible through funding by the James Hyde Porter Fund.

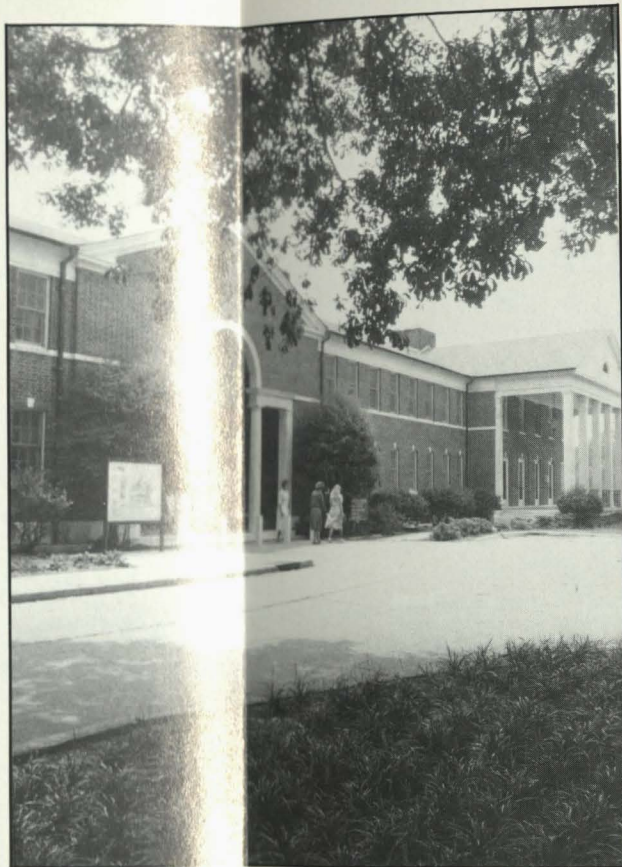

Porter Fund Awards Grant

The James Hyde Porter Fund has awarded a new grant of $27,000 toward the continued renovation of the James Hyde Porter Gymnasium. Two previous grants in 1985 and 1986 by the Porter Fund enabled Wesleyan to begin this vital project. The new funds are being used to paint, recarpet and install a new light system in the locker rooms and lounge area; refinish the athletic gymnasium floor; and to purchase carpet and additional equipment for the weight room.

Future plans for Porter Gymnasium include a whirlpool, an accoustical ceiling and insulation to aid in energy conservation. With the completion of the gym's renovations, which have been made possible by the Porter Fund, Wesleyan will have an outstanding physical fitness center for students and women in the middle Georgia community. The total-fitness center will be open day and evening hours to offer women a superior opportunity to become involved in physical fitness as a lifetime activity.

In addition to the Porter Fund's generous gifts, the U.S. Department of Energy recently awarded an energy grant of $56,000 toward the installation of a new light system and a humidity and heat control unit.

James Hyde Porter, a Methodist Layman and dedicated supporter of Wesleyan College, was one of the College's greatest benefactors. His dedication was manifested through his generous support, not only during his life, but also after his death through a beneficent bequest.

Named in memory of Mr. Barry Persons, Persons Dormitory is the site of extensive renovations funded by the Capital Campaign. An 1869 graduate of the Wesleyan Conservatory, she married Dr. R.T. Persons of Fort Valley shortly after graduation. An advocate of excellence in education, she taught school in Fort Valley. In honor of her successful teaching career, her sons, Robert T. Persons and Judge Golden Persons, gave generously to the College. Recognized as two of the most successful, civic minded men in the state during their lifetimes, the Persons brothers' support of Wesleyan followed in the tradition set by their grandfather, Rev. George Washington Persons. In 1840, he was one of eight benefactors who came to the financial rescue of the College.

Dorm Renovations Near Completion

This fall Wesleyan students will enjoy the benefits of one of the capital campaign's renovation projects when they move into Persons and Jones Dormitories. Over the summer, Persons is being refurbished with carpet, curtains and furniture for the parlor; sheetrock, paint, accoustical ceiling tiles, refinished wooden floors and ceiling fans for the dorm rooms; and all of the halls are being painted and recarpeted.

Fifty-six heating/air conditioning units are being installed in Jones Dormitory. Residents will be able to control their room's temperature when the transformer is installed in mid-September.

"Not only will these renovations improve the quality of life for the students, but also the dorms will be utilized more for Wesleyan's summer programs," said Dr. Glenda Earwood-Smith, Dean of Student Services.
